WANING STARS MANAGER'S JOB

Post as Head of Major League Club Most Great Players' Final Goal

BY BILLY EVANS.

Most star ball players, when they begin to slip, yearn for a chance to manage a major league club. Tris Speaker has proved himself as great a manager as a player. His success inspired Cobb to take a whirl at the managerial game.

Clyde Malan, a great outfielder, who has seen his best days, is now handling the Washington club. Rumor has it that George Sisier is to be the next manager of the St. Louis Browns when Fohl severs his connection with the club It is said that Sisler was offered the job before Fohl took it. to the story Sisler refused, saying that he believed the managerial duties at this time might affect his value as a player MAY TRY LATER.

That certainly was a very honorable viewpoint. Sisler is credited also with saying that at a later time he might want to take a try at the managerial

Bu there is one star player in the major leagues who doesn't care to manage a club. This star is one of the brightest and brainiest players in the game, one eminently fitted for the duties of a big league manager.

The player in question is Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox.

Get Your Straw Tomorrow

Winter hats are officially out of date after tomorrow. On Decoration Day you'll see most men in bright. new, snappy straw hats. There's a straw hat here for every face, for every pocketbook. Whether you want to pay $1.95 or $5, there're here. And by the way. $5 is as much as you pay here. We doubt, however. if you get anywhere more quality for more. Have a look, just inside the Men's Shop door.
